Due: Dec. 2

On Campus Class Participation:

Classroom participation is determined by attendance, completion of all reading assignments prior to the scheduled class time, and active participation in classroom discussions and activities.

Flex Participation:

If you are taking this course as a NOLA2U Flex student, please note the following attendance policies:

1. You are required to be in class either through viewing the lectures live or viewing the recorded lectures on Canvas. When you view the recorded lecture, you will be considered present for that class. Regardless of if you watch the class live or recorded, you are only allowed to miss the amount of class time specified in the NOBTS attendance policy as stated in this syllabus.
 2. You will be asked to certify that you have been present for the live session or have viewed the recorded session. This certification will be done through Dr. Emily Dean after having watched the class live or viewing the recorded session.
 3. All video lectures are available for 7 days after the video is posted. If you are unable to view the video within that time frame, you will be considered absent for that class session.
 4. Technical issues will not be considered a valid reason for missing a lecture.
2. Annotated Bibliography. The student will develop an annotated bibliography of at least 15 works on subjects related to ministry to women including the history of ministry to women, disciple making, meeting ministry needs, lay counseling, event planning, missions, & outreach. The document should be typed using Turabian format and should include the bibliographical information for each item along with a 3-4 sentence description of the work.
Due: October 12
 4. Mission Area Presentation. The student will present on an assigned SBC affiliated mission agency. In the presentation, the student should address (1) the purpose of the mission agency; (2) what this mission agency has to offer a local church women's ministry as well as individual participants; and (3) if applicable, how a local church women's ministry can work with this mission agency. The presentation should include a slideshow with 10-15 slides. On campus students will present in class. Flex students will submit the slideshow along with audio or video to present the information. Due: November 2

5. Events and Interviews.

- a. Attend at least two women's ministry events this semester (church-based, regional, or seminary). Write a one-page paper for each event, briefly describing the event but spending more time reflecting on the value of the event in an attendee's life. Due to the current situation, online events will be acceptable for this assignment.
- b. Conduct two interviews with leaders of women's ministries (one local church paid staff and one local church volunteer layperson if possible). Submit a typed summary of the findings from the interviews which should include but are not limited to: (1) the leader's philosophy of ministry; (2) hints/guidelines this leader uses in program planning; (3) ways this leader develops leaders within her ministry; and (4) the 'take-away' or highlight of the interview. Current Turabian guidelines for title page and format are to be followed. Due: Nov. 30

6. Ministry Plan. Each student will develop a year-long ministry plan for women based in a local church. This programming should reflect content from the textbooks, discussions from class, information from the interviews you have conducted, and one's own ideas about planning for women. The student will begin with a paragraph or two summarizing her philosophy of women's ministry and continue by presenting a scripture focus for the ministry, and then develop programming and special events to support all of this. When an event or program is named, it should be included with an explanation of why it is included as well as the target audience. What will be the content focus of the event or program (for example: name specific Bible studies to be used with rationale for their inclusion)? Include a women's retreat or conference as well as at least two other special events spaced throughout the year. Due: Dec. 5
