Textbooks

(1) Elliger, K. and W. Rudolph, eds. Biblia Hebraica Stuttgartensia (hardback is preferred).

(2) Van der Merwe, Christo, Jacobus Naudé, Jan Kroeze, A Biblical Hebrew Reference Grammar, Second edition (T&T Clark, 2017)

(3) Cook, John and Robert Holmstedt. Intermediate Biblical Hebrew: An Illustrated Grammar (Baker Academic, 2020).

(4) Hebrew dictionary or lexica. Options for Hebrew dictionary or lexicon are below.

A print version is sufficient and has significant advantages; the best print option is:

The Hebrew and Aramaic Lexicon of the Old Testament (HALOT),

That said, there are numerous returns to using bible software. The leading two bible software platforms are:

- a. Accordance Bible Software. The program should include The Hebrew and Aramaic Lexicon of the Old Testament (HALOT), offering instantaneous look up of the meanings of words in the Hebrew OT. You may also purchase the Dictionary of Classical Hebrew, which is the most up-to-date and most sophisticated complete dictionary of ancient Hebrew.
- b. Logos Bible Software. The program should also include The Hebrew and Aramaic Lexicon of the Old Testament (HALOT), offering instantaneous look up of the meanings of words in the Hebrew OT. Once more, you can purchase the addition of the Dictionary of Classical Hebrew.

For any bible software, there is a significant discount for seminary students.

Evaluation of Grade

Assignments – Students will be responsible for completing daily assignments (see schedule below). Completion of the daily assignments is essential to your success in this course. Students will bring their assignments to class to review. The daily assignment portion comprises 25% of the final course grade.

Final Oral Exam – There will be one final exam that comprises 30% of the final course grade. The student will engage the Hebrew text and respond to the professor's questions orally (not in writing).

Vocabulary and Grammar Quizzes – quizzes over vocabulary will be taken throughout the semester. These quizzes comprise 20% of the final course grade.

Syntax Research Paper – each student will complete a paper for the course. The length is 3,000-5,000 words (including footnotes and bibliography). The student will highlight any and every significant feature of the Hebrew text. They will interpret the passage in light of their exegesis of the Hebrew. They will interact with relevant scholarly journals, essays, and books that deal with the Hebrew exegesis. Engagement with commentaries will be kept to a minimum, with only the most excellent of textual commentaries meriting attention. The professor will guide students through quality resources as they write their paper. This comprises 25% of the final grade.

Attendance Policy

Students are expected to attend and participate in the class sessions. Any student missing more than nine hours may receive an automatic grade of "F" for the course. Three tardies will count as one absence.

Selected Bibliography

There are a number of key grammars that you should be aware. Further studies require careful reading of essays and journals. I am happy to share more detailed bibliographies and methods of research throughout the semester.

Some key (modern) grammars are: Waltke and O'Connor (Eisenbrauns); Joüon and Muraoka (Pontificio); Gesenius, Kautzsch, and Cowley (Oxford).
