The background check does not include a credit history check. The cost for the background check is $29.95 paid directly by the applicant to Certified Background.

Criminal background check information

In order to facilitate student admission to New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and Leavell College it is necessary to conduct background checks for all applicants for on-campus studies and most distance learning students. This background check is performed by Certified Background, a consumer reporting agency, with a report provided to the institution's Admissions Office. A copy of the report is available to the applicant through the online service portal of Certified Background.

Each applicant must authorize New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and Leavell College to obtain a background check in order to satisfy the admission requirements as set by the institution. The information provided through the background check will be used in making admissions determination by the Admissions Committee of the institution. The only exclusion to the background check will be special exemptions made for certain online and non-degree students, namely students in online-only non-degree seeking programs and off-campus certificate programs. This exemption is monitored by the Admissions Office, which has the right to administer the exemption as necessary.

Students must clear a criminal background check before admission. Failure to undergo the background check will result in exclusion from admission consideration. If the background check indicates criminal behavior the student may not be awarded admission to the institution. Please be forthcoming about any criminal history in your admission application. A conviction may not be a permanent barrier to admission. Simply being honest about one's past can potentially answer questions about character that arise based on the report. All decisions on whether or not to grant admission to New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary (hereafter NOBTS) are at the sole discretion of NOBTS acting through the Admissions Office or their designee. Furthermore, any officer or administrator of NOBTS is specifically authorized to review any and all reports generated by Certified Background or a future designated such company.

What if there is a conviction on the report?

The student is allowed by law to examine the report and will be allowed to dispute any findings contained in it. If a conviction was wrongly reported, the student may request that the report be amended to change this mistake. However, the occurrence of such errors is very infrequent, therefore, NOBTS reserves the right to order further investigations as it deems are warranted under all the circumstances.

Again, a conviction may not be a permanent barrier to admission. Simply being honest about one's past can potentially answer questions about character that arise based on the report.
