

Explanation about new Cycles of Graduate Classes at the Birmingham Center

1. Beginning for the Fall 2007 Semester we will have two cycles of classes on Mondays.

2. One Cycle is a CIV cycle and includes the following classes for 2007-2008

Fall 2007 Semester--- Greek Grammar, Baptist Heritage, and Exploring the O.T.

Spring 2008 Semester---- Greek Exegesis, Pastoral Ministries, and Exploring the N.T.

3. The other cycle is a new four-year Monday cycle beginning Fall 2007 Semester (This is the cycle for returning students). It includes the following classes:

Fall 2007 Semester --- Greek Grammar, Proclaiming the Bible, and Hermeneutics

Spring 2008 Semester --- Greek Exegesis, Pastoral Ministries, and Preaching Practicum

4. WAIT –What about students in the fourth year of the Old Monday Cycle????

Fall 2007 Semester ---Hebrew Grammar, and Spring 2008 Semester--- Hebrew Exegesis should take care of most students' problems. (They are in the schedule)

FOR STUDENTS WHO ARE IN THE MONDAY CYCLE OR TUE/THUR CYCLE

If you are a student who will be in the fourth year of the cycle during the 2007-2008 school year and you have been faithful to take all the classes offered in the cycle during your first three years, let me know if you have problems getting classes that you need.

5. With a new four-year-cycle for the Birmingham Center and a new CIV cycle, you will need to be careful in your selection of classes.

6. You will notice new classes (like Hermeneutics) in the cycles at the Birmingham Center that you previously took as workshop classes. Make sure that you take your elective classes plus necessary required classes at on-campus workshops. You are required to take 30 semester-hours of on-campus classes.
