

Ronald van der Bergh, University of Pretoria - OT Awareness of Psalm 109:1 (LXX) in Codex Bezae

The popularity of Psalm 109:1 (LXX) in the early stages of the spread of Christianity is shown by the numerous quotations of or allusions to this text by NT authors. In this paper, I will compare the occurrences of this verse in Codex Bezae Cantabrigiensis. In Codex Bezae, quotations of Psalm 109:1 (LXX) occur in Matthew 22:44, Luke 20:42-43, Mark 12:36, and Acts 2:34-35. That the text occurs so frequently in the same manuscript, written by a single scribe, affords us a glimpse into the layered history of this manuscript with regard to a single OT quotation. I will consider the layout, context and text of the quotation in all four passages, and show that there was a moderate degree of awareness in the Bezan tradition of the passage as an OT quotation.