Seminary Mission

New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and Leavell College prepare servants to walk with Christ, proclaim His truth, and fulfill His mission.

Course Purpose

The purpose of this course is to help equip those studying at NOBTS to fulfill the Great Commission (Matthew 28:16-20) through the local church and its ministries.

Core Value Focus

Our seminary has five core values: doctrinal integrity, spiritual vitality, mission focus, characteristic excellence, and servant leadership. This course relates in some way to all five core values. The core value focus for this academic year is Mission Focus: “We are not here merely to get an education or to give one. We are here to change the world by fulfilling the Great Commission and the Great Commandments through the local church and its ministries.”

Curriculum Competencies Addressed

New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary has seven basic competencies guiding the NOBTS curriculum. This course supports and relates to various competencies such as biblical exposition when evaluating missionary concepts by the Scriptures. The disciple making competency which is stated is “to stimulate church health through mobilizing the church for missions, evangelism, discipleship, and church growth” is especially addressed in the curriculum of this course. The course would be most directly related to the disciple making competency.

Course Description

This colloquium is designed to direct students majoring in Missions in the Doctor of Philosophy program in the foundational reading related to the principles and methods of missions.

Student Learning Outcomes

At the conclusion of the colloquium, the student should be able to:

1. Relate to a broad range of significant works related to the principles of missions and critique these works in terms of strengths and weaknesses.
2. Relate to a broad range of significant works related to the methods of missions and critique these works in terms of strengths and weaknesses.
3. Articulate a clear understanding of foundational issues related to addressing the principles of missions.
4. Articulate a clear understanding of foundational issues related to issues of the methods of missions.

Course Teaching Methodology

This colloquium is a resource-driven learning experience in which students will be guided by a professor through basic foundational reading assignments. Those enrolled in the colloquium will arrange a time to meet as a group in monthly accountability sessions with the professor to discuss the assigned readings. Other accountability arrangements will be clarified by the professor at such meeting times.

Course Requirements

1. Attend each session. This may be in person or using Blue Jeans.
2. Prepare for the colloquium discussions by completing the assigned reading carefully.
3. Prepare to lead discussions concerned particular assigned books for the colloquium as assigned by the professor.
4. Read four books per colloquium meeting for the first, second, and fourth meetings of the colloquium. Prepare a book review or executive summary using the above guidelines for each book. Select books from the syllabus bibliography or other books approved by the professor.
4. Prepare an assessment of each text read through the semester according to the following guidelines:
 - a. Read each book that is chosen in its entirety.
 - b. A book review or executive summary will be prepared for each book.

Guidelines for Writing A Critical Book Review

Write a review of the book which should include the following elements:

(1) Briefly summarize the contents of the book. Include the bibliographical information about the book and its length. This section should be approximately three to four pages.

(2) Evaluate the book from a biblical, theological, and missiological perspective. Include a minimum of two to three paragraphs for each perspective. For example, the biblical evaluation would examine if and how the book uses Scripture. This section should be a minimum of two to three pages.

(3) Discuss two or more concepts useful to understanding issues relating to one or more of the following: mission principles or methods; witness to those who follow other religions; cross-cultural missions and ministry; or missiology as a field of study. This section should be approximately two to three pages.

(4) Use headings for each section: Summary, Evaluation, and Discussion.

(5) The minimum length for each review should be seven double-spaced typed pages and a maximum of ten pages.

(6) A major purpose of writing the review will be for your own usage in the future such as in teaching.

Guidelines for Writing an Executive Summary.

Write an executive summary of the book which includes the following: Begin with bibliographical information (author, title (subtitle, if it has one), place of publication, publisher, and year of publication).

Present the major thesis or themes of the book in two to three paragraphs. Highlight what was learned in the summary (use numbers to list). Write the main idea or ideas of the book. Discuss, including citations or source, several key principles found in the book. Include at least two pages of application in a mission ministry context.

Use heading for each section such as Summary; Main Ideas; Key Principles; Application.

The minimum length for each executive summary should be seven double-spaced typed pages and a maximum of ten pages. A major purpose of writing the executive summary will be for student's own usage in the future such as in research and teaching.

Prepare an electronic copy of each review or executive summary which you turn in to the professor supervising your reading study seminar. Preserve one copy for your use. These reviews will be helpful in preparing for Qualifying and/or Oral Exams.

5. Read four books per colloquium meeting for the first, second, and fourth meetings of the colloquium. Prepare a book review or executive summary using the above guidelines for each book.

6. Prepare an annotated bibliography of a minimum of thirty books and maximum of fifty books related to mission principles and methods. Each page of the annotated bibliography should have a minimum of two paragraphs with summary and application for each book. Each page of the annotated bibliography may contain three to five books. The annotated bibliography will be due at the third colloquium meeting.

Grading

The grade for the colloquium will be determined by the extent to which the student accomplishes the course objectives. This will largely be determined by accomplishing the course requirements. The professor may use a variety of accountability instruments such as oral presentations, written assessments, involvement in discussion, and other appropriate means to assess the participant's accomplishing of course objectives. The colloquium is evaluated on a Pass/ Fail basis.

Reading List

The list of books may be adjusted at the discretion of the professor. Books not assigned for a critical review or executive summary may be included in the Annotated Bibliography assignment.
