Seminary Purpose Statement

The mission of the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary is to equip leaders to fulfill the Great Commission and the Great Commandments through the local church and its ministries.

Description

In this seminar students will be introduced to the literature and techniques of doctoral research. Special attention will be given to the development of research proposals and the presentation of research, including individual guidance in the form and style of research writing.

The seminar is divided into three components: an introduction to doctoral research, an introduction to research methodologies, and a writing workshop. These components will meet according to the following schedule:

Introduction to Doctoral Research, January 16-17

Introduction to Research Methodologies, February 20 and March 13

Writing Workshop, May 1

Seminar meetings will be held 8:00-11:00 and 1:00-4:00 each scheduled day, with the following exceptions:

January 16—returning students: 1-4 only

May 1—all students: morning session only

Objectives

1. The student will understand the basic principles of research.
2. The student will be introduced to various types of research.
3. The student will produce a seminar paper during the semester to be evaluated as to form and style at the end of the semester.

Required Texts

Wayne C. Booth, Gregory G. Colomb, and Joseph M. Williams, The Craft of Research, 2d ed.

John D. Cone and Sharon L. Foster, Dissertations and Theses from Start to Finish

Paul D. Leedy and Jeanne Ellis Ormrod, Practical Research: Planning and Design, 8th ed.

Fred Pyczak and Randall R. Bruce, Writing Empirical Research Reports, 5th ed.

Style Guides

Biblical studies students:

The SBL Handbook of Style: For Ancient Near Eastern, Biblical, and Early Christian Studies, 3d ed.

Psychology and counseling students:

Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 5th ed.

All other students:

Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, 6th ed.

Introduction to Doctoral Research

Schedule

January 16

8-10 Program Orientation and Introduction to Doctoral Research—new students only

10-11 Library Orientation—new students only

1-4 The Research Problem and Its Setting—all students

January 17

8-11 Writing the Literature Review

1-4 Writing Workshop, part 1

Requirements

Each student is expected to study the required texts carefully, complete pre-course assignments, and attend all class sessions.

Assignments to be Completed Prior to the Class Sessions

In order to maximize the time in the course, it is crucial that you do extensive work prior to the course. Assessment of the reading assignments will be made the first day of class. Failure to complete the appropriate reading and pre-assignments is grounds for dismissal from the class. Pre-assignments include the following:

1. Read Practical Research: Planning and Design, 8th ed., chapters 1-6.
2. Read Writing Empirical Research Reports.
3. Read The Craft of Research.
4. Read Dissertations and Theses from Start to Finish
5. Find one article from three different respected journals in your field of study, and analyze the structure of each article in light of your readings. Observe how each author handles the elements of research and how arguments are made and supported. If you have access to papers presented at scholarly meetings in your field, you may include one paper among the three articles. Bring a copy of each article to class.

Introduction to Research Methodologies

Schedule

February 20

- | | |
|------|---------------------------------|
| 8-11 | Writing the Methodology Section |
| | Quantitative Research |
| 1-4 | Qualitative Research |

March 13

- | | |
|------|------------------------------------|
| 8-11 | Historical and Literary I Research |
| 1-4 | Research in Seminars |

Requirements

Each student is expected to study the required texts carefully, complete pre-course assignments, and attend all class sessions.

Assignment to be Completed Prior to the Class Sessions

Read Practical Research: Planning and Design, 8th ed., chapters 7-11.

Writing Workshop

Schedule

May 1

8-11 Writing Workshop, part 2

Requirements

Each student is expected to study the required texts carefully, complete pre-course assignments, and attend all class sessions.

Assignments to be Completed Prior to the Class Sessions

1. Each student is expected to submit a completed seminar paper or substantial writing sample to the Office of Research Doctoral Programs no later than April 21, 2005.
2. Study the appropriate style guide for your major.

Dissertation Prospectus – Sample Outline #1
(Appropriate for some using historical research)

(Note: This outline contains the primary items to be in the prospectus. Each student should customize as appropriate to his or her dissertation.)

A. The Thesis and Its Setting

1. The thesis (research question, thesis statement, purpose)
2. The hypotheses
3. The definitions of terms [if needed]
4. The assumptions [if needed]

B. The Review of the Related Literature or State of Research

C. The Importance of the Study

D. Methodology

[Customize this section for your dissertation—cover the material, but do not be bound to the outline.]

Write an introduction to the entire section. Then write a narrative section that addresses the issues appropriate to the proposal.

1. Section 1 [use a descriptive subheading that fits your research]

In a narrative format cover the appropriate items such as:

- (1) The data needed [primary and secondary -- be specific]
- (2) Criteria governing the admissibility of the data
- (3) The location of the data [specific...ie. not “in books in the library”]
- (4) The means of obtaining the data
- (5) The treatment of the data [This is the heart of the section. Discuss the methodology used and how you will interpret the data. Be specific and “detailed.”]

2. Section 2

E. The Qualifications of the Researcher

F. The Outline of the Proposed Dissertation (organized by chapters)

G. Selected Bibliography

Adapted from Paul D. Leedy, Practical Research: Planning and Design

Dissertation Prospectus – Sample Outline #2
(Appropriate especially for some quantitative designs)

(Note: This outline contains the primary items to be in the prospectus. Each student should customize as appropriate to his or her dissertation.)

- A. The Problem and Its Setting
 - 1. The statement of the problem
 - 2. The hypotheses
 - 3. The definitions of terms
- B. The Review of the Related Literature
- C. The Importance of the Study
- D. Method
 - 1. Subjects
 - 2. Measures
 - a. Validation
 - b. Reliability
 - 3. Procedure
 - 4. Data analysis
- E. The Qualifications of the Researcher
- F. The Outline of the Proposed Study (organized by chapters)
- G. Selected Bibliography

Dissertation Prospectus – Sample Outline #3
(Appropriate especially for some quantitative designs)

(Note: This outline contains the primary items to be in the prospectus. Each student should customize as appropriate to his or her dissertation.)

A. Introduction and Literature Review

1. Literature Section 1
2. Literature Section 2
3. Summary and conclusions
4. Statement of purpose

B. Method

1. Subjects
 - a. Criteria of inclusion in study
 - b. Recruitment of subjects
2. Design
3. Setting and apparatus
4. Independent variables
5. Measures (dependent variables)
6. Procedure

C. Results

1. Statistical procedures
2. Data presentation
3. Interpretation of the data

D. The Qualifications of the Researcher

E. The Outline of the Proposed Dissertation (organized by chapters)

F. Appendixes

G. Selected Bibliography

Dissertation Prospectus – Sample Outline #4
(Appropriate especially for some qualitative research designs)

(Note: This outline contains the primary items to be in the prospectus. Each student should customize as appropriate to his or her dissertation.)

A. Introduction

1. Problem and significance (in related literature)
2. Focus and research questions
3. Limitations of the study

B. Research Design

1. Overall strategy and rationale
2. Focusing on the specific settings, population and phenomenon
3. Sampling people, behaviors, events, and/or processes
4. Issues of entry, reciprocity, personal biography, and ethics

C. Data Collection Methods

1. Participation in the setting
2. Direct observations
3. In-depth interviewing
4. Document review

D. Recording, Managing, and Analyzing Data Resources for the Study

1. Time line
2. Level of data collection
3. Personnel needed
4. Resources needed

E. The Value and Logic of Qualitative Research

1. Criteria of soundness

F. The Qualifications of the Researcher

G. The Outline of the Proposed Dissertation (organized by chapters)

H. Appendixes

I. Selected Bibliography

Adapted from Marshall and Rossman as cited in John W., Creswell, Qualitative Inquiry and Research Design: Choosing Among Five Traditions (Thousand Oaks, CA: Sage Publications, 1998), 22.

Dissertation Prospectus – Sample Outline #5
(Appropriate especially for some qualitative research designs)

(Note: This outline contains the primary items to be in the prospectus. Each student should customize as appropriate to his or her dissertation.)

A. Introduction

1. Statement of the problem
2. Purpose of the study
3. The grand tour of question and subquestions
4. Definitions
5. Delimitations and limitations
6. Significance of the study

B. Procedure

1. Assumptions and rationale for a qualitative design
2. The type of design used
3. The role of the researcher
4. Data collection procedures
5. Methods of verification
6. Outcome of the study and its relation to theory and literature

C. The Qualifications of the Researcher

D. The Outline of the Proposed Dissertation (organized by chapters)

E. Appendixes

F. Selected bibliography

Adapted from John W. Creswell, Qualitative Inquiry and Research Design: Choosing Among Five Traditions (Thousand Oaks, CA: Sage Publications, 1998), 23.

Dissertation Prospectus – Sample Outline #6
(Appropriate especially for some quantitative research designs)

(Note: This outline contains the primary items to be in the prospectus. Each student should customize as appropriate to his or her dissertation.)

- A. Introduction
 - 1. Statement of the problem
 - 2. Review of the literature
 - 3. Questions and/or hypotheses

- B. Methodology
 - 1. Subjects
 - 2. Instruments
 - 3. Procedures

- C. Analysis of data
 - 1. Data organization
 - 2. Statistical procedures

- D. Significance of the study
 - 1. Implications
 - 2. Applications

- E. Time schedule

- F. Qualifications of the researcher

- G. Outline of the proposed dissertation
